Race Comment

Basically comes down to how Incentivise handles the quick back up after a long preparation. He's 7th up now which started back in March in a 1400m maiden. However nothing in this race hit the line last start. Southern France is the danger I feel - Went ok on speed last start after 42 days off - think Williams can control the race and the cross over nose band goes on. Traduce next best, last start was fairly plan but runs prior had alot of merit.
